

Application for a new water access licence with a zero share component

This application is for a new water access licence (WAL) with a zero share component, under section 61 (1) (b) of the Water Management Act 2000. A WAL entitles its holder to specified shares in the available water within a specified water management area or from a specified water source (the share component), and to take water at specified times, at specified locations (the extraction component). A WAL does not permit the use of water for a particular purpose, nor does it permit the holder to construct or use a water supply work. Those rights are conferred by a water use approval and a water supply works approval, respectively.

A WAL with a zero share component does not entitle the holder to any shares in available water in the specified water management area or from the specified water source. However, the holder of a WAL with a zero share component may still be able to trade water allocations and share component units. A WAL with a zero share component is still required to specify the water management area or water source to which it relates.

If you intend to apply for a new specific purpose WAL, a new WAL pursuant to a controlled allocation order, or you wish to make changes to or transfer an existing WAL, you require a different form. Applicants are advised to read the guide to this form. Step-by-step instructions on each section are included in the guide, which also lists options for submitting this application and application fees. Information on fees is also available from the WaterNSW website

www.watensw.com.au

If an application has been accepted by WaterNSW payment has been processed and a receipt has been issued, application fees will not be refunded. You can complete this form by typing in the PDF or writing using a black/blue pen using BLOCK capitals.
